Search Planes Probing Pacific ... Radioed At Point Of No Return

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A four-engined Pan-American Strato-cruiser with 40 aboard was reported overdue Friday on a flight from San Francisco to Honolulu. The plane was due at 9:45 p.m. (PST). The last radio report from the plane was at 5:04 (PST) when Capt. G. H.

Brown made a routine check. The big Strato-cruiser was 1160 miles from Honolulu at the time. The Coast Guard has sent out a search plane to look for the airliner which carried 32 passengers and a crew of 8. The clipper had passed ocean station November, known as the point of no return. That is the halfway mark between San Francisco and Hawaii. The Strato-cruiser, Flight 7, left here at 11:30 a.m. Pan American officials said no passenger list would be released until it learned the plane's fate. The Coast Guard in Honolulu said a power failure may be the reason the clipper hasn't checked in. Searchlights were turned on at Pearl Harbor in case the clipper's compass was not working.

—Military Surprise—

B-58 Claim Puzzles AF

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's description of the mission for the new B-58 faster-than-sound jet bomber created puzzlement in the Pentagon Friday.

The Defense Department and the Air Force obviously were surprised to learn that "the B-58 will be succeeded by the B-58, a supersonic bomber." That remark was contained in Eisenhower's nationwide address on national defense Thursday night.

The impression the military had, up until Thursday night, was that the 1,000-mile-per-hour B-58 Hustler, if tests proved out, eventually would take over the role of the present medium range B-47. At the Pentagon, officials were disinclined to discuss the matter with newsmen. This reluctance could have been due to (A) A desire to avoid seeming to correct the commander-in-chief, or (B) The outside possibility that a decision had been made which hadn't seeped down to the level of the Pentagon.

Here is the background of the situation: The B-52 is a heavy, long range bomber, produced by Boeing Airplane Co. Its range, without aerial refueling, is slightly over 6,000 miles; with refueling, B-52s have flown nonstop around the world. Its speed is about 650 miles per hour.

SAC Use The B-52 has been in production since 1954, is now used by a majority of the heavy bombardment wings of the Strategic Air Command and will be used by all of them when production is complete. The B-52 weighs over 400,000 pounds; has a wing span of 185 feet and has a bomb load of over 20,000 pounds.

The B-58 is officially listed as a medium bomber. Convair division of General Dynamics Corp. is working on an order for 31 planes to be used in testing. The B-58 weighs about 150,000 pounds, has a wingspan of 57 feet. Because of high fuel consumption to give it supersonic speed, the B-58's range, without midair refueling, presumably is less than the approximate 3,000 miles for the B-47. Like the B-52 and B-47, the B-58 can be refueled from aerial tankers to extend its range.

In Fort Worth, Texas, August C. Easenwein, Convair vice president, said of the President's speech regarding the B-58: "Obviously, we're delighted. We've long had confidence that our bird would be ordered into production eventually."

Easenwein, also general manager of the Fort Worth Convair plant, said he wouldn't hazard a guess as to the "eventual size of production orders."

Gen. Nathan Twining, now chairman of the joint chiefs of staff but then chief of staff of the Air Force, said in an address at Goldsboro, N.C., last January: "We are testing a new supersonic bomber, the B-58, which may replace the B-47. From the trials so far, the B-58 appears to be a top-notch airplane."

The Air Force announced that a 12½ million dollar contract has been awarded Convair for procurement of "long lead time items for production of B-58's" beyond the 31 already on order.

All of the 31 bombers delivered or to be delivered under the existing contract were ordered originally for purposes of test. However, if the first aircraft turned over to the Air Force meet requirements, some of the initial order could be incorporated in any new mass production order.

U.S. To Hear Within Hour Of Launching

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of Project Vanguard said Friday the American public would be informed within an hour or so of the time when his scientists launch a United States earth satellite.

"There will be a definite announcement," Dr. John P. Hagen told a news conference. But he declined to say whether it would come before or after the launching.

A small-scale spherical object is scheduled to be sent up sometime in December. A more ambitious satellite will be launched in March. These are Navy-directed projects. Meantime the Army also has been directed to proceed with preparations for launching a satellite.

Hagen said he personally has no objection to news media covering the first launching under his program providing there is no interference with the technicians. He indicated it was up to the Pentagon to decide whether the event will be public—and, if so, to what extent.

ANOTHER 'SPACE SHIP' TURNS UP

WATERLOO, Ia. (AP)—The strange story of a California man who claimed he saw and went inside a space ship near Kearney, Neb., had its counterpart in Iowa Friday night.

Paul Rutledge, a packinghouse worker here, said he saw a strange craft 30 feet above the ground near his home on the outskirts of Waterloo.

His story went like this: About 6 p.m. Friday, Rutledge was putting his car in his garage when the motor died. He looked up and saw an object which looked like a football, about 30 feet long with a metal bottom and a glass top.

Rutledge said he ran to a neighbor's home to report the sight. The neighbor, Ed Jacobsen, said he saw no object but observed a bright light in the sky that looked too big for a star.

ICE COLD WEATHER TO GO ON

Temperatures were to be somewhat warmer in western Nebraska Saturday with high readings 35 to 45 west and 30 to 36 east.

The northwest winds Friday night, coupled with predicted below 20-degree lows, served to call attention to the coldest night of the season in many regions of the state.

Friday's highs ranged from 33 at Norfolk to 41 at Imperial, but cold northerly winds that whipped up to 54 miles an hour in various sections of the state made residents feel the bite of winter.

Winds to 54 m.p.h. were also reported at Beatrice and Norfolk and gusts to 40 m.p.h. at Grand Island, Kearney and Ainsworth.

Light snow was reported Friday at Norfolk, Lincoln, Grand Island and Valentine.

Freak Flood Maroons 8 In Subway

... For 10½ Hours

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight passengers spent 10½ hours Friday in semidarkness aboard a subway marooned underground beneath Broadway by a freak flood.

Power finally was restored shortly after 3:30 p.m. and the train was able to move on to a station.

During the ordeal underground, people could get to the eight persons, but either because of infirmity or timidity they couldn't get out.

They breakfasted on rolls and coffee brought in to them. For lunch they were brought sandwiches and coffee.

Above their heads Broadway echoed to the normal din and bustle of a workday weekday. But they couldn't hear it. There was the aura of a tomb, dim, quiet, with most of the nine-car train deserted.

As the hours of their self-imposed imprisonment wore on, one of the passengers, Robert Medina, 48, a cafeteria chef, whiled away the time by entertaining the others with dances and songs.

"He's a good dancer and a good singer," said another passenger, Mrs. Margaret Rendon, 42.

Led To Safety The train stalled at 5 a.m. when a broken water main flooded the Broadway-Seventh Avenue line tracks between 74th and 75th Streets. Most of the passengers aboard were going to or returning from work.

The other passengers were led to safety along a catwalk to an emergency exit.

It was a tricky stretch for even the most agile to negotiate. The eight passengers who stayed didn't choose to risk it. They thought the train would get going again in a few minutes.

Army Given Satellite Job Jupiter Go-Ahead Ordered By Defense Chief McElroy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army was called on Friday night to help the United States overtake Russia in the strategic field of space travel.

Army scientists were ordered by the Defense Secretary McElroy to use their modified Jupiter-C missile to launch an earth satellite—apparently as soon as possible.

Russia has had one satellite in orbit since Oct. 4 and two since last Saturday, when a second space vehicle carrying a small dog was fired more than 1,000 miles into the blue.

The first American satellite, a test vehicle about the size of a baseball, is scheduled to be launched sometime in December as part of Project Vanguard.

Project Vanguard is being run by the Navy in co-operation with civilian scientists.

Big Army Victory

Bringing the Jupiter-C into the picture was interpreted here as a big victory for the Army in the interservice struggle over missile development. Army scientists have been saying for weeks that they could have had a satellite in orbit by now if they had been given an early go-ahead.

No Timetable

The Pentagon announcement on Army participation in the U.S. satellite program gave no timetable for launching attempts.

It did say, however, that Project Vanguard will meet the announced schedule. In addition to the December test, that calls for the launching of a fully instrumented satellite sometime next March.

Dr. John P. Hagen, Vanguard's director, said Friday the American public would be informed within an hour or so of the time when his project launches a satellite. But he declined to say whether the announcement would come before or after the launching.

A Defense Department spokesman described the Jupiter-C as a three-stage vehicle, powered in the first stage by a liquid-fueled rocket engine and in the second and third by smaller solid-fueled rockets.

600-Mile Climb

Last year a Jupiter-C rose about 600 miles and traveled 3,300 miles over the South Atlantic in a test firing from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Dr. George F. Huff, director of research for the Caltech Chemical Co., announced in Pittsburgh that this country will soon have a substantial production of boron-hydrogen fuels for its rockets. A compound of this nature is believed to have powered the two Soviet sputniks.

The Navy has been working on the high energy fuel problem since 1952 and until recently the work was highly secret.

Plant In Kansas

Huff said pilot plant production of boron-hydrogen compounds has been under way for some time at Caltech's Butler County plant 25 miles north of Pittsburgh. A new four million dollar plant will go into production next spring at Lawrence, Kan., he said.

Scientific observation of Sputnik II continued in this country, and at Cambridge, Mass., Dr. John S. Rinehart reported sighting a faint object preceding the satellite by about 10 to 15 seconds. Rinehart is assistant director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

A test vehicle was fired from Cape Canaveral Friday. Reporters said it looked like the Bomarc, a long range anti-aircraft missile under development by the Air Force. The firing was confirmed in Washington but a Defense Department aide said the missile was not a Bomarc.

Youth, 15, Beat-Up After High School Football Match

Two or three youths beat up a 15-year-old Lincoln high school student Friday after a football game.

The youth said the others accosted him as he was going to his car in a parking lot near Lincoln High School. He suffered minor cuts and bruises but was released from a hospital after treatment.

The attack was apparently unprovoked.

Space Round Trip For Man Possible ... Army Research Chief Tells Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's research chief said Friday the U. S. feat of sending a rocket nose cone into outer space and returning it to earth unburned means it is perfectly possible for a man to make the same round trip.

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin made the statement at a showing to an audience of high school students of color movies of launching of the rocket and recovery of the cone. It was the first public showing of these movies. President Eisenhower showed the cone on television Thursday night.

Gavin told the Southern Assn. of Student Councils that the cone came down "quite close" to the spot its makers had predicted. The film showed sailors rowing a boat out from a small ship to recover the cone to which were attached a parachute and a red float.

The parachute presumably played a part in bringing the nose cone down slowly enough to avoid destruction from heat generated by friction with the air.

Gavin said he could not tell the students what the material of the nose cone was, but that it was almost entirely an invention of Werner Von Braun, the German-born rocket scientist heading up the scientific phase of the Army's rocket program.

Talking briefly with newsmen, Gavin said a letter carried in the missile arrived "as undamaged as that," pointing to a sheet of paper in a reporter's hand.

The technical feat of protecting the inside of the cone against heat, he said, demonstrates it is perfectly possible to build a device in which a man could travel into space and back.

Police Seeking Unknown Frat House Bomber

Police are still looking for the unknown person or persons who threw a bomb into a window well at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity House early Friday morning, causing an estimated $150 damage.

The blast tore the steel window loose, scattered glass throughout the basement dining room and even cracked windows on the second floor of the house, located at 635 No. 16th.

Particles of the window glass were embedded in a wall 25 feet from where the bomb exploded, Jack McLean of Scottsbluff, who was studying on the first floor, said the bomb went off about 2:40 a.m., said it made "a terrific noise."

University police heard the blast, three blocks away. Fragments of the bomb were examined at the Lincoln Air Force Base and base officials reported it was not "home-made."

Scottish Rite Degrees Conferred On 49 Masons

Forty-nine new Scottish Rite Masons were honored at the 109th reunion banquet Friday night at the Scottish Rite Temple at Lincoln.

Dr. William A. Brandenburg of Wayne, as guest speaker before some 800 Scottish Rite Masons, described "intolerance as a real and threatening foe of freedom."

The Nebraska educator and Scottish Rite Mason said that intolerance even in its most subtle forms threatens freedom as much as "its more apparent enemies."

"And Scottish Rite Freemasonry," he continued, "is a foe of intolerance—both political and religious."

The 31st and 32nd official degrees were conferred earlier in the day by the Lincoln Consistory of which George A. Kurk is master of kadosh.

Raymond R. Ostran was elected class president by its membership. Other officers named were Eugene A. Conley, vice president; Donald A. Hamman, secretary-treasurer; and J. Arthur Curtis, orator. All are of Lincoln.

Named For Roper The class, selecting the name of "The Charles H. Roper Memorial Class," honored a prominent Scottish Rite Mason and Lincoln masonic leader who died recently.

In other ceremonies, 50-year caps were presented to Dr. George E. Condra, now of San Francisco and former University of Nebraska dean; George S. Austin of Lincoln and Leonard E. Hurtz of Omaha.

The traditional banquet closed the four-day reunion of Scottish Rite Masons at Lincoln.

Killian Set For Big Push To Overtake Russians' Satellite Lead

Cost Will Be Large

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's new scientific chief of staff got set Friday to tackle the task of winning the space weapons race with Russia.

Dr. James R. Killian, due here shortly from his post of president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, pledged he would move "as rapidly as possible" to marshal the nation's scientific brainpower for the job.

Killian withheld details of his plans, but if his past pronouncements are a guide, he will stress unity of effort. He has said that one of the main problems in national security is how to avoid wasteful duplication of effort among the armed forces.

Meantime the White House reported a gratifying public response to Eisenhower's plans for a scientific big push to overtake Russia in satellites and missiles.

One Or Two Billion
And a White House caller, Sen. Bridges (R-NH), supplied a guess at what it will cost: One or two billion dollars a year extra.

Two billions would just about equal what it cost to develop the first atomic bomb back in World War II. It would almost double the amount now being spent on missiles—2½ billion dollars this fiscal year.

But Bridges, even though he is usually counted among the economy demanders in Congress, predicted Congress will appropriate whatever is needed to get the job done.

And the senator, who had breakfast with Eisenhower, gave another important item to questioning reporters:

He said Eisenhower told him that Killian will have "full power and authority" to do what is needed.

Killian is expected in Washington within a week.

Telegrams Pour In

That information came from Mrs. Anne Wheaton, acting White House press secretary, who also reported that telegrams have been pouring into the White House reflecting "wholehearted support of the President's speech and the presentation of the problems."

Some reaction was mixed, such as that of Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), who has been criticizing the administration on grounds it has woefully and dangerously neglected national defense.

Jackson in a statement had words of praise for Killian, but added:

"We still need, and we still do not have, a full time boss for the missiles program at the presidential level. We still need a man given the power, the authority and the responsibility required to drive the missiles program forward."

Pen Officer Thwarts Attempted Escape In Cabinet Drawer

A Nebraska Penitentiary inmate was captured about 7:30 a.m. Friday while attempting to escape by concealing himself in the bottom drawer of a large metal cabinet.

Captured was Albert T. Hubble, 40, who is serving a seven-year sentence for burglary from Douglas County.

According to Penitentiary officials, Hubble tried to conceal himself in the cabinet as it was being loaded inside the metal shop for delivery at the State Mental Hospital.

The cabinets are manufactured at the Penitentiary.

The sheet metal shop officer who was inspecting the cabinets found the inmate, officials said.

Hubble was placed in detention awaiting further action.

Nathan Gold Says City Must 'Get Going Again'

By SAM HALL
Star Staff Writer

Nathan J. Gold, recipient of the Lincoln Kiwanis Club's 1957 Distinguished Service Medal Award, told the club Friday that Lincoln "needs to get going again" in its industrial development.

The award is given annually to a person who has "made some contribution to the economic, civic or cultural betterment of the state of Nebraska or some section of it."

Gold said the people of Lincoln can solve the problem by becoming alert, enthusiastic salesmen and by believing in the city, the University of Nebraska, the business institutions and other facilities.

Gold added:

"For several decades the state was losing population. While we have improved our position, we do not yet equal the average gain in population of the United States. To my mind there is only one answer—we must diversify our economy."

OMAHA (AP) — Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, Friday sent a letter to his combat crews telling them "to maintain as much as one-third of our strike forces on continuous alert is not and will not be easy, but it can and must be done."

Duxbury Denies VA Offices Here Plan To Move

A. H. Duxbury, director of the Regional Veterans Administration offices in Lincoln, emphatically denied that VA officials had changed their policy in any way toward moving the Lincoln offices to Omaha.

Duxbury said that he had checked with St. Paul and Washington, D. C. VA officials and found that no decision to move the Lincoln offices had been made.

However, a Washington VA spokesman told the Associated Press Friday that the Veterans Administration has been committed since May to shift its regional office from Lincoln to Omaha, if and when a new federal building is completed in Omaha.

'Consideration'
"As we have announced before, consideration will be given to occupying the Omaha offices if and when the space becomes available, and not before," Duxbury said.

The final decision will be made at that future date by Harvey D. Higley, chief of the Veterans Administration in Washington.

Duxbury pointed out that the Lincoln offices serve the entire state. About 30 per cent of the veterans live in Omaha and the remainder are scattered across the state.

Lincoln was chosen for the VA state office because it seemed to be the population center for the state's veterans and their dependents, he said.

'Most Surprising'
Burnham Yates, president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, commented that the announcement of the VA decision was "most surprising" and that Chamber officials would begin immediately to look into the matter.

"This news about the move is contrary to what has been told us in the past," he said.

Yates said that he and Mayor Bennett Martin had conferred with Higley in Washington on the situation in September and had received assurance that no commitment to move had been made.

Bids Nov. 13
The General Services Administration announced Thursday that investors would be invited Nov. 13 to bid on financing 10 government lease-purchase construction projects, including a $9,300,000 post office-courthouse at Omaha.

The Omaha bids will be opened Dec. 11. The project would be financed under a 25-year repayment plan.

The VA spokesman in Washington said the Lincoln office would not be moved until the new building planned at Omaha is ready for occupancy. The VA now leases space in Lincoln.

HITCHIN, Eng. (AP) — Mrs. Vera Ludford walked into a cigar store and told a clerk, "I smell something burning."

Government Work Not 'Soft' High School Journalists Told

The information director for the U.S. Department of Agriculture took issue Friday with the "misconception" that the term "government job" means "soft government job."

Lyle Webster of Washington, D.C., addressing the annual banquet of the Nebraska High School Press Assn. at the University of Nebraska, said:

"The truth of the matter is that you find just as many hard-working, energetic people in government as you will in any big organization" and no more "slickers" than anywhere else.

Not All In D.C.
Webster said another misconception about government jobs is that they all are in Washington, while actually nine out of 10 are outside the capital.

For example, he said, there are 17,367 federal employees in Nebraska.

Problems That Are Windborne

The sharp cold winds blew cuttingly across Nebraska as the week end neared—a reminder that there still is an arctic region and that this state is not always out of range.

There will be colder weather, but the present spell is sufficient to bring home the fact that summer is over. So are the achievements of summer, so are the concerns of summer and so are the triumphs. It was a good, rewarding summer. The rains fell in good season. The skillful hand of the farmer made good use of his opportunities. All the crops came in well. A few weeks ago the question before the house was how to get the production. Now it is: What shall we do with it?

But it will be a year long to be remembered—a year of the soil bank, lower price supports, good production but most of all a year that in all probability will be remembered for its prodigious production of sorghum grains. Nebraska found an escape from the economic strictures of limited basic crops by a diversion into the sorghums, a price-supported grain unhampered by acreage allocations. In all probability the state added to its farm income between $50 and $75 million.

It does not appear that this bonanza will recur. The Department of Agriculture has served notice that it is henceforth prepared to exercise acreage limitations on all price supported, soil depleting crops. One can take that to mean that agriculture will be given one less way to work its way toward economic independence by crop production.

As the cold winds blow outdoors and Nebraska takes its planning to the fireside the winter question for agriculture will be: "Now where shall we turn?"

Welcome Gift

There wasn't much new in the fact that Lincoln will be relieved of a previous obligation amounting to $450,000 in connection with improvements to No. 10th as a feeder for the new interstate highway. The announcement by State Engineer L. N. Ress that Lincoln would not be required to put up the money was just a confirmation of an earlier informal decision.

Nevertheless, the announcement still represents a gift of some $450,000 to Lincoln—and a most welcome one. There is no place in city affairs where such a sum of money can be put to better use than on the street system. Federal funds, which are here whether you like them or not, will be used to make the 10th Street connection.

It has been reported that Mayor Bennett Martin has ordered immediate processing of plans for transformation of K and L into a one-way pair as an eastern feeder for Capital Parkway, the Southeast Diagonal. Whether this is a wise decision or not will be debated on many fronts and only time can render a final judgment of its merits.

Martin's reaction to the extra $450,000, however, represents one thing that is badly needed—an active approach to street problems. The affairs of the city are many and all problems cannot be handled at once but it does seem that, to date, the street situation has received far too much talk and far too little action.

Despite good intentions, time has a way of slipping by while problem areas become more acute. This seems to be what has happened on streets. There has been speculation and discussion on what was needed, when it was needed and how it could be accomplished but so far there has been no action.

Off The Beam

The Young Democrats of the nation lit up their annual convention this week at Reno, Nev. with a spirited argument over the wisdom of admitting Red China to the United Nations.

Ike On Surface

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One would have to be blindly partisan and perhaps a little stupid to see nothing good in the remarks of President Eisenhower on Thursday night. On the other hand, you would have to be about the same way to see no shortcomings in what he said, or didn't say. It was evident that the President has taken a more serious view of world affairs as a result of Russia's satellite launchings than he has previously led the nation to believe.

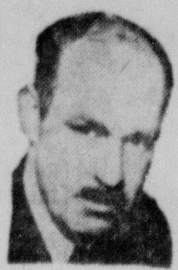

His appointment of James R. Killian as the U.S. missile and satellite "czar" was recognition of the fact that present organizations are not coming up to expectations. A central head of the U.S. efforts in this field of science is an essential move and should result in greater co-operation and achievement among groups involved in the perfection of missiles and satellites.

But the rest of the President's talk could be classed mainly as a review of already known facts. Conspicuously absent from his talk was an analysis of the factors responsible for the status of this nation in the missile and satellite field. The President said nothing of the events which led to the Russian launching of satellites before the U.S. He gave no details of this nation's methods of approach to new fields of science. There was nothing in what he said to indicate that any substantial changes were in mind or needed in the scientific structure of the United States. He did not seem to reckon with the true significance of recent Russian successes. This significance does not lie in any immediate danger of total destruction from Russia or even an immediate threat of war.

The significant thing about the launchings is that for the first time in history Russia has been able to outdo the United States in a major field of endeavor. While the United States went far ahead of the field in atomic energy and still leads the pack, it is coming in second in another major world development. It is, as a matter of fact, not even second yet. Red China is reported actively engaged in the field of satellites and missiles but it seems safe to assume the U.S. will beat that nation into outer space. If Red China were successful with a satellite launching, it would more likely be a product of Russia, anyway, than of its own ingenuity. There is, however, an important propaganda point at stake in who follows Russia into outer space and how soon they do it.

The system in America from which scientific advancement stems has not produced the desired results. Is one single addition to that system at the uppermost point going to cure its ills? Are there no weaknesses further down the line that need attention? There was no discussion, aside from either vague reference or a few flitting words, in the President's talk about the development and use of scientific knowledge in this country. There was no discussion of what role, if any, the government is playing to emphasize the vital needs in the field of science and the fulfillment of that need. American scientists were either unable to produce a workable satellite before Russia or their efforts were not devoted to that pursuit. Both possibilities, it seems, are worthy of considerable discussion until a final conclusion is reached. That conclusion, then, calls for a concrete program for improvement.

You might say, as Eisenhower in effect did say, that the satellite—and to some extent at this particular time, missiles—are of secondary importance to atomic superiority. But to use this reasoning as a basis for a self-satisfying continuation of the same program is a drastic mistake. There is far too great a potential in development related to space and missile warfare to warrant any notion that therein does not lie the possible key to eventual survival. It is foolhardy to assume that achievement in one field of science is sufficient for all time. You can't win one and lose one with Russia and expect to stay in the game. All the Soviet Union would need is one win to put it far enough in front and the game would be all over. The President may have scratched the surface Thursday night but none of the roots were examined.

Cultural Exchange; A One Way Street?

SAN FRANCISCO — Out of the clear blue the other day, Benjamino Bufano, California sculptor, received a telegram from Moscow. It read:

"We invite you to visit Moscow as the guest of the Soviet government to help promote an exchange of art and culture. You will be free to travel at will through the Soviet Union. Please contact the Soviet embassy in Washington to arrange travel details."

Mr. Bufano has pioneered sculptured art in stainless steel on the West Coast. His statue of St. Francis stands in the North Beach Catholic church; his statue of Sun Yat-Sen in St. Mary's square; and the San Francisco Chronicle is presenting his statue of "Peace" to the municipal airport. Astutely, the Russian government picked him for an all-expense paid visit to Russia. Naturally, he accepted.

Last April, Alvin Eurich of the Ford Foundation, returning from Russia on a survey of education, was asked by the State Department to come to Washington for a conference.

While in Washington, Eurich asked Ambassador William Lacy, in charge of cultural exchanges behind the Iron Curtain, to permit Prof. A. D. Alexandrov, head of the University of Leningrad, to come to Washington.

Ambassador Lacy asked Eurich to write him a letter, which Eurich did on May 20. In it he again told how Professor Alexandrov desired to come to the United States, and outlined how such a visit could benefit American scientists.

As of this writing, Eurich had no reply to that letter. He did get one telephone call from the State Department in June.

"Do you know what's involved in bringing Dr. Alexandrov to the United States?" asked W. Paul O'Neill, a member of the State Department office on cultural exchange. "Would you be prepared to meet him and accompany him every place in the United States?" Eurich said that he would be prepared to meet Alexandrov but could not accompany him every place in the United States as he had other commitments.

"Would you be prepared to have a responsible person accompany him on any train?"

Eurich replied in the affirmative. "May I then invite him?" Eurich asked.

"Yes," said O'Neill. "But we are not yet prepared to issue a visa."

"Then I'm not going to embarrass Dr. Alexandrov by inviting him and having him wait for a visa which might not arrive," said Eurich.

STATE DEPARTMENT FORGOT He was so right. As of this week, Dr. Alexandrov had not received the visa and had not been invited. This despite the fact that Alexandrov had shown Eurich the Russian cyclotron and everything else in the University of Leningrad laboratories. (Copyright 1957 By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Johnson Surveys Congressional Need

WASHINGTON — The hour was late but the corner office on the third floor of the Capitol, Senate side, was ablaze with lights and whirling with activity. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson was back, applying his restless intelligence and vast political skill to the problem of meeting the Russian challenge in the satellite-missile field.

He had communicated to a press conference his determination not to prejudice the case until an Armed Services subcommittee had marshaled the facts. He had hinted at his failure to find a sense of urgency in the Pentagon.

Now he was probing and testing the mood of his majority. Johnson is a great believer in what he calls "touching base." He hunts hungrily for the soft spots which require that special Johnson touch. What he has found is that Democrats believe that the country is bitterly unhappy, and justly so, over the outer-space lead grabbed by the Soviet Union. In turn, Johnson sounds a cautionary note roughly as follows:

1. Congress ought always to eliminate partisanship from its inquiries into defense and foreign policy. This time we've got to.

2. Our objective must be to produce more and better missiles at a faster rate of speed. Even the most hardened war heeler would say amen if he knew the facts.

3. There is only one man who can produce such weapons faster—Dwight D. Eisenhower. Congress can determine what steps should be taken, it can even recommend people and policies. But only the President can act — and Mr. Eisenhower will be President until the end of 1960.

4. The problem is to imbue the executive agencies with the necessary sense of urgency without placing them on the defensive. If all we do is attack and all the administration does is stoutly defend its record, the country is the victim.

This is Johnson's frame of mind as he moves toward the new test of his leadership. The President's attitude will begin to be revealed in his telecasts and, above all, in his new budget showing what he is prepared to pay to make the new effort succeed.

A basic fact of the situation is no secret. In the White House is a man who does not believe in "strong" presidents and hates the personal and political manipulations by which they achieve a balance of the prevailing pressures in the country. But the legislative branch contains a whole slew of active ardent politicians who understand the uses of power. All hands have the distance to go to meet each other on the ground of common peril.

Already the parallel with the dismal 1930-'32 years is being recalled when the White House and a partially Democratic congress were stalemated over depression remedies. It is a break for the country that Lyndon Johnson first came here during those years as secretary to a Texas congressman and finds them, in retrospect, sterile. (Copyright, 1957, By U.F. Girls Are Still Girls In Every Generation

One of the amusing aspects of humanity is that experts seem to be forever working like mad to prove something everybody should have known all along.

Among the truths most lately taken out of the realm of common suspicion and placed in the category of scientific findings is that teen-age girls today are a lot like their mothers were at the same age.

An agency has established scientifically that the young man of today has a pretty good chance of finding a girl "just like the girl that married dear old dad." The institute made its study at the behest of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., examining an expertly chosen sample of 2,000 girls between the ages of 11 and 18.

What the institute found out seems to be that girls come in all kinds, and most of 'em are pretty nice. They are rebellious and conservative, practical and idealistic, romantic and hard-headed. And sometimes they're all of these put together, which almost anybody could have told you who has ever taken an interest in girls.

And who hasn't?

What changes there have been are mostly surface alterations, the survey found. The modern young lady has a bigger allowance, more freedom to participate in games and sports and more of a voice in establishing family rules. Also, she takes more part-time jobs. Maybe that last is because baby-sitting has come into its own in the last few years. The way it used to be, not many young married couples could afford baby sitters.

When it comes down to serious business, though, the pattern hasn't changed one little bit. The girls still think they'll take a job when they get out of school, and then get married and have a family. Come to think of it, this would be one heck of a way if they didn't figure it that way.

What's more, you can count on one thing, although the survey didn't come right out and say so. It is that the girls will do just exactly what they're planning to do. And that's nice, too. It's not different, but it's nice.

Another thing that hasn't changed, and which no one should have expected to change, is that the girls do not plan to dominate the men they marry. The survey discovered, not surprisingly, that they are looking forward to husbands who are intelligent, responsible, independent and self-directing. Optimism seems to be a quality girls have had in great quantity ever since Eve took her first look at Adam.

You can't expect a scientific survey to go into the realm of prediction, but no such inhibitions bother me. For that reason I suggest that what the girls will get in the way of husbands will be no more different than what the boys will get in the way of wives. (Copyright, 1957, By INS Inc.)

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Take Time To Be Holy

Take time to be holy,
Speak oft with thy Lord;
Abide in Him always,
And feed on His Word:
Make friends of God's children,
Help those who are weak,
Forgetting in nothing
His blessing to seek.

Take time to be holy,
The world rushes on;
Spend much time in secret
With Jesus alone;
By looking to Jesus,
Like Him thou shalt be;
Thy friends in thy conduct
His likeness shall see.

Take time to be holy,
Be calm in thy soul;
Each thought and each motive
Beneath His control;
Thus led by His spirit
To fountains of love,
Thou soon shalt be fitted
For service above.

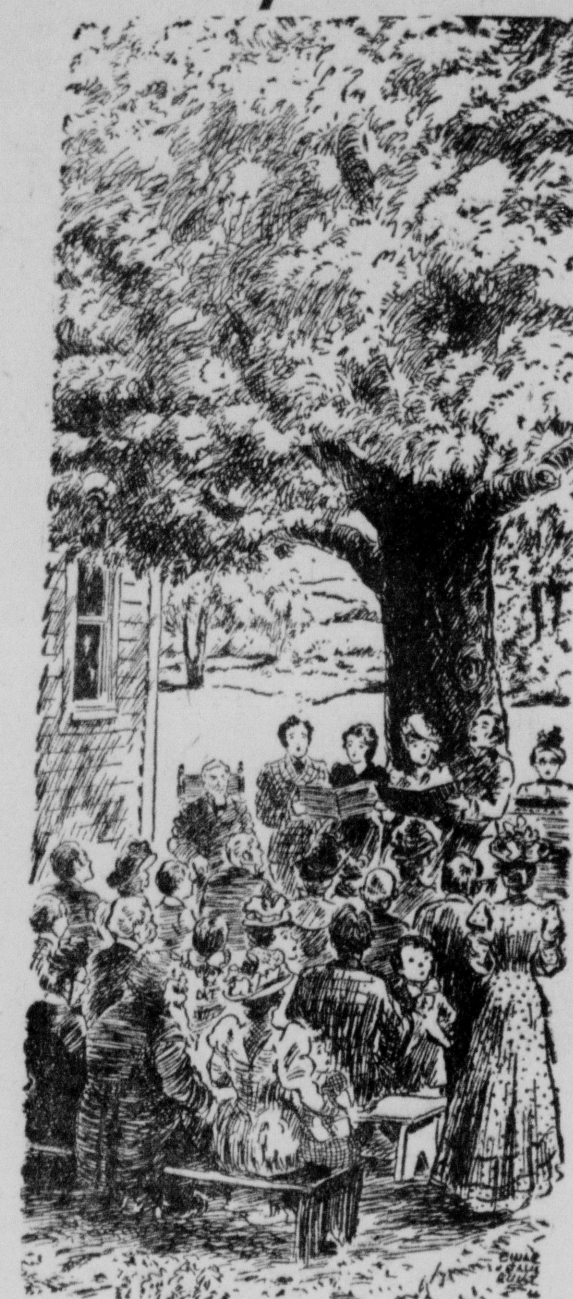

By HORACE B. POWELL

A sermon preached one night in England, more than three-quarters of a century ago, inspired the theme and title of this hymn of consecration.

The preaching took place at a religious service at Brighton and the man in the pulpit used as his text, "Be ye holy as I am holy." W. D. Longstaff of Sunderland, England, was one of the listeners that night and when the worship was over the stanzas of "Take Time To Be Holy" began running through his mind.

When the Moody-Sankey religious party went to England, Mr. Longstaff became interested in services held in his own town, and in others, and Mr. Sankey who was song leader for all the spiritual meetings was delighted with Mr. Longstaff's song.

He published the hymn in his "Gospel Hymns And Sacred Songs," in 1891 and it was widely used for years in prayer services on both sides of the Atlantic.

Objective, Time

Sutton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It was enough not to realize there was a method to Russia's madness in placing Marshal Zhukov as head of the Russian government at the same time a U.S. President was serving who was a friend to this Russian leader. The greatest need of Russia was time—time to perfect its military, agriculture, capital and scientific position, time to gain more peoples and territory by fair means or foul. All these Russia now has accomplished. Indeed, its greatest need of all was time and it saw a chance to gain this objective by presenting to the world a mild-faced, gentle appearing man who was a personal friend of the President of the United States.

Russia successfully carried out and completed its plan. When it had completed its aims of military advancement, its gains by force and propaganda of peoples and countries, its achievements in the field of science in launching not one but two earth satellites, it had carried out and completed its objective, and so could show its true position and purpose by replacing the lamb with a lion. So Marshal Zhukov was relieved of his high position and a job well done and replaced by Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev.

Of course Russia is clever enough not to show too much true character yet to the outside world or its people. But anyone brave enough to read between the lines can clearly see what with Party Chief Khrushchev in command, the whole truth lies stark and bare before our eyes. Russia has gained its objective — time. From now on it can call its own plays boldly.

It played the free peoples and nations of the world for fools and won. So now let's face facts. We have shut our eyes to the truth far too long. We need not be afraid, but God help us if we refuse to be aware of the great seriousness of our present world conditions.

V. R. W.

Poor Muttink

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This is a fast-moving world over which we have always walked proudly, secure in knowing we had to bow to none.

Today we stand with our tongue in our cheek, wondering if we have been hoodwinked into being too humane for our own good. There are those who give their all in advancing science. So-o-o, why all the ado over one small dog?

Down through the ages, animals and men have given their bodies and lives that we might learn to protect ourselves from or wipe away the germs of death. How many have suffered and died for us? Brave doctors, nurses, little men unknown, unsung—all taken for granted, never questioned, accepting without a thought. No front-page story. No picture.

Now a helpless little dog goes spinning, whirling through space in a terrible tomb of blackness. I can imagine her trembling, whimpering in her loneliness. Perhaps she wonders where the man is who used to feed her. Maybe he was kind and she licked his hand. Today she is so tired—the harness has rubbed raw places she cannot lick. The darkness—has lasted so much longer. The world of noise numbs her brain. One staggers under the heavy suit about her small body.

I hope her misery is short. Her gift to science will give the world something that will make proud her memory. A little dog that should have been some child's pet. A man would have gone insane, knowing that he would go on whirling through space until his sanity exploded and his dying proved that God gave man the earth but the sun and moon are His.

MRS. RAY ROGERS

Man Of The Year

Fremont, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: What a wonderful age we live in! The progress we are making is stupendous. People see all kinds of things, including space ships with little and big people in them. Ike says we need more Billy Grams. Seems to me we are making considerable progress with only one Billy.

When our high school kids graduate with all kinds of suits, badges, jewelry and sweaters, and don't know how high is up nor the way to the post office, one wonders. At one California school, some of the grads don't know the alphabet, the time of day, nor how to find half of 70. In one Nebraska town last year, not a single tenth-grader could add one-half and one-third. An ex-mayor came to the rescue with the statement that it was 30. He also added that the dinosaurs were galloping around in Canada.

What we really need is more brooms and witches, more black cats and salt to throw over our shoulders. I'm getting afraid to go out nights for fear of running into the man in the moon. And that poor fellow at Kearney whom they are trying to railroad—I'll bet he gets the prize this year, whether it's a button or a bootjack.

Sidney Home Blaze Claims Fifth Victim

46-Year-Old Mother Dies

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Cheney County Welfare Department officials here have been informed of the death at University Hospital in Omaha of Mrs. Pauline Kittleman, 46.

Mrs. Kittleman was the only survivor of a flash fire at a farm house north of Sidney Aug. 19, in which her husband, George, and three children—two of them infant twin daughters—died.

The fire started when Kittleman poured kerosene into a stove. For more than a month Mrs. Kittleman remained in critical condition in Cheney County Memorial Hospital.

She was then transferred to the University Hospital for special treatment and had appeared to be recovering.

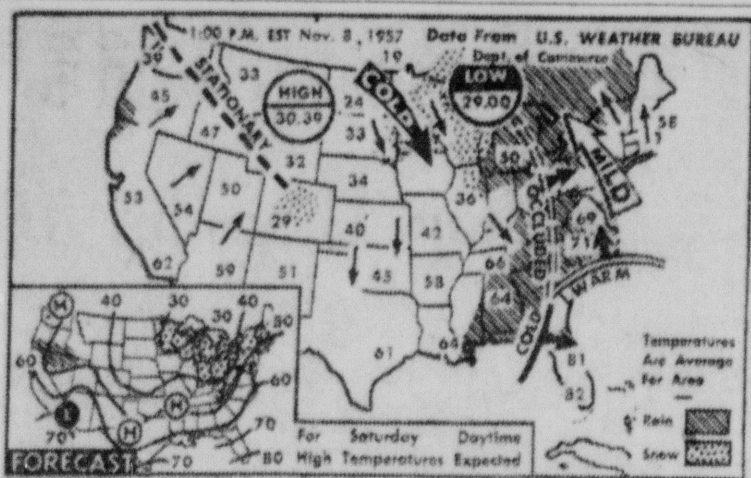

Funeral services will be held in Sidney.

Snow Flurries Move Eastward

Snow flurries are forecast for Saturday over a rather large area bounded by a line running from the upper Mississippi Valley southeastward to the Ohio Valley, thence northeastward to northern New England and westward to the upper Mississippi Valley. Rain is expected for southern Oregon and southwestern Idaho. It will be colder over most of the area east of the Mississippi River; warmer in the western Plain States. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Blood Donor Appeal Brings Big Response

Lincoln Star Special

SEWARD, Neb.—Hospital authorities here said late Friday an appeal for blood donors to aid an ailing patient brought a "more than adequate response."

Within two hours after an appeal was broadcast over Lincoln radio and television stations Friday from 50 to 75 donors had volunteered.

The "O negative" type blood was sought for Harold Sohrweid, 25, assistant coach at Seward, hospitalized the past week with an ulcer condition.

His attending physician said the patient is "better at the moment, but still has a long way to go."

Motion Denied For New Trial In Tax Ruling

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—District Judge W. F. Spikes Friday overruled a motion for a new trial in the Grand Island School District tax litigation.

Hall County Attorney Gerald Buechler promptly announced that an appeal would be taken to the State Supreme Court.

If the Supreme Court upholds the District Court ruling, the Grand Island school levy for this year will be 28.91 mills, which was originally asked by the board. The County Board some weeks ago reduced the school levy to 24.72 mills, and the school board filed a petition for a writ of mandamus.

Judge Spikes granted the writ on the grounds that the county board waited too long to change the levy, but at the same time he expressed doubt as to the validity of the school board's transfer that resulted in the reduction of the levy by the county board.

The Board of Education Monday night transferred the $150,000 back to the general fund, but earmarked it for building purposes.

This did not change the levy of 28.91, as certified by the school board, however, and Buechler asked for a new trial.

Girl, 15, Held In Stabbing Of Another Girl

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—A 15-year-old Alliance girl Friday was in custody of juvenile authorities after Police Chief Doug Thomas said she was accused of stabbing a 13-year-old girl, Barbara Stull.

Miss Stull was reported in good condition in an Alliance hospital with a stab wound in the back just below the ribs.

Chief Thomas said officers could find no apparent motive for the stabbing, which occurred in front of the postoffice in downtown Alliance.

The police chief said Ruth Flood had been "teasing" the Stull girl and Miss Stull was stabbed in the back with a pocket knife.

Dedication Of New Auditorium Scheduled Sunday

Lincoln Star Special

HOOPER, Neb. — Dedication ceremonies for Hooper's new $75,000 auditorium which was completed in September will get under way on Sunday at 3 p.m. with the local Lion's Club in charge.

Hooper high school band will play for the program, and each organization which aided with planning and fund raising will be represented.

The auditorium will remain open through Monday and events will conclude Monday night with a dedication dance.

The complete auditorium is 128 feet long and 70 feet wide with a seating capacity of more than 2,000. Among facilities offered is a full length basketball court.

Planning the auditorium began in 1953 when the town council voted a $60,000 bond toward its construction. An additional $15,000 was raised by individual contributions.

Anderson, Foss Will Attend US 183 Meet

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP) — Nearly 150 enthusiasts from Nebraska and South Dakota are expected in Holdrege Monday, Nov. 11 to beat the drum for improvement of U.S. 183.

"It will be good business for Highway 183 supporters to convince everyone that it doesn't make sense to neglect a vital north-south road across the state," said Charles H. Gabus, chairman of the Holdrege Chamber of Commerce highway committee and vice president of the association.

Governors Joe Foss of South Dakota and Victor Anderson of Nebraska will speak at the noon luncheon. Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) also has accepted an invitation to attend.

Others who will be present include: State Senators Arthur W. Swanson of Holdrege, Don Thompson of McCook, Dwain Williams of Broken Bow and Frank Nelson of O'Neill; J. R. McBride of Minden, member of the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission; and Nebraska division highway engineers D. O. Coolidge of McCook and Harold H. Eason of North Platte.

Gabus said a hard surface road would benefit towns 50 miles on each side of the route. U.S. 183 enters Nebraska above Springview in Keya Paha County and leaves it below Alma in Harlan County. Advance registrations indicate delegations from Alma, Elm Creek, Miller, Ansley, Westerville, Weisert, Comstock, Sargent, Taylor, Rose, Bassett, Riverview and Springview.

Lloyd Chandler of Ansley is president of the group.

Moon Trip Possible; But Is It Worth It?—Scientist

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, Friday said a trip to the moon is possible—if the American people decide they want to spend tremendous sums of money for such a project.

He took part in a symposium at the Southwest Research Institute conference on "Science in the next decade."

Dr. Waterman said the trip would take about 10 hours.

Do We Want To?

"If we want to beat the Russians to the moon, do we want to do so badly enough to spend the millions of dollars that might instead profitably be invested in a half dozen other promising lines of scientific inquiry?" he asked.

Dr. Waterman said that under conditions as we now know them, flights to the two nearest planets, Venus and Mars, would take years rather than hours.

"Thousands or millions of years would be required under present conditions to travel to any of the stars," the scientist declared. "Even if we could travel at the fastest speed known—that of light—186,000 miles per second."

Lack Of Funds

Another scientist who addressed the group, Col. Benjamin B. Blasingame, head of the Air Force ICBM Titan project, expressed "very grave concern" for national security because, he said, lack of funds is retarding basic research.

"The greatest threat to this country—economically and militarily—is lack of fundamental research, knowledge for knowledge's sake, into the American economy."

Col. Blasingame also declared: "Our missile program is far better than the popular speculation stirred by Russia's satellite launchings would indicate."

Lincoln Receives Official Notice On Street Funds

Mayor Bennett S. Martin was officially notified Friday that the city is released from a $450,000 matching fund commitment on 9th and 10th feeder connections to the new Interstate Highway.

State Engineer L. N. Ress' letter also expressed appreciation of the city's co-operation in offering to provide the matching funds if needed.

"With the seven-cent gas tax," Ress said, "the Highway Department will have ample funds to match all available federal aid . . ."

Lincoln plans to shift the $450,000 to matching funds for processing K and L as a one-way pair between 21st and 9th.

Preliminary plans and an "available funds" report are due next week on the proposed projects.

YOUNG SET HAS FUN AT PRE-GAME PARTIES

Twenty young cheerleaders, 10 from Lincoln High, and 10 from Northeast High spent two serene and happy hours together on Friday evening—After 7 o'clock, however, they became friendly enemies, for on Friday evening the Links and the Rockets, battled on the football field, and each group of cheerleaders urged its own team to victory.

The cheerleader hostesses from Lincoln High School included Barbara Phillips, at whose home the pre-game dinner was given—Diane Geier, Bonnie Bush, Mary Margaret Holtmeier, Judy Feather, Sharon Anderson, Donita Reich, Marilyn Waybright, Diane Camp and Marilyn Davey.

Any sounds of merriment issuing from the A. W. Honnor home on Friday evening can be attributed to Miss Beverly Honnor and the group of Lincoln High School and Northeast High School friends which she entertained preceding the Links-Rockets football game last evening. Understand that the young ladies consumed quantities of pizza during the early evening party.

A tradition is something that gives pleasure and adds to pleasant memories for years to come. Twelve senior girls at Southeast High School have such a tradition—it will continue in practice the remainder of the school year, but will be remembered on many a rainy afternoon for a life time.

This is the third year that Anne Sowles, Leah Cheuvront, Mary Walt, Sarah Stenten, Virginia Schilling, Lynn Wright, Sandy Dudley, Judy Adams, Mary Lou Finningsmier, Glenda Luff, Nancy Morgan and Diana Hale, have dined together at first one home and then another preceding each football and basketball game.

IN SUBURBIA

The primary topic among Park Manor and Patrician Heights residents this week is the flu, certainly not a subject to brighten anyone's day, so we'll turn our sights to those healthy souls remaining and surprisingly enough news is plentiful.

PARK MANOR

We'll roll out our red carpet the first thing this morning and introduce the numerous families who have recently moved to our suburb.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Stephens and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hemmer settled in their Park Manor home two weeks ago. New address for the former Wymore residents is 6125 Franklin, and the youngest member of the household is Mr. and Mrs. Hemmer's two-year-old daughter Frances.

The last of October was the time chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Lichty to move from their home at 2819 So. 44, into their new residence at 2200 So. 58. The couple has a daughter, Kim, who is six months old.

Settling in their new home at 6320 South on Wednesday, Oct. 30, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Stranathan who formerly made their home at 3511 M. Mr. and Mrs. Stranathan's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stranathan and their children Michael, Deborah, and Jan Rae, are also Lincoln residents.

When you're a long way from home it's sometimes difficult for you and your family to get together very frequently, but Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Allen seem to have solved this problem.

The Allens and their daughter, Judith Ann, set out on Friday afternoon, Oct. 26, for a week-end visit with Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stanley in Burlington, Ia. Not that the Stanley's live in Burlington, it just happens to be the half way point between their home in Anderson, Ind., and Lincoln. And needless to say, a good time was had by all.

Mrs. William Berford entertained friends at her home on Thursday, Nov. 7, when plans were discussed for the 372nd squadron wives coffee to be held Tuesday morning, Nov. 19, at Cotner Terrace. Guests were Mrs. Berford's co-hostesses for the affair, Mrs. Cecil Davis, Mrs. Richard Baran, and Mrs. Cecil Braden.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

New residents in Patrician Heights are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Hoover who moved into their home at 5215 Wilshire the latter part of October. The couple has two sons, Raymond and Donald, who is stationed with the Army at Fort Belvoir, Va.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Roy Loudon was hostess to the members of one of the Patrician Heights bridge clubs at her home. A guest for the informal evening was Mrs. Richard Stoesser.

Visiting in the suburb on Thursday, Oct. 31, was Mrs. Clayton DeMott of Gering who was in town attending the State Nurses Convention. Mrs. DeMott was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thoms Creal.

Arriving in Patrician Heights last Sunday for a short visit at the home of her grandson D. F. Danker and his wife was Mrs. Floyd Danker of Upland.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

BY BEV HOGAN

Time! It seems there's never enough of it. This week has been an especially busy one at Lincoln Northeast.

Chatter in the halls has been about the Turnabout Dance, Primary elections for County Government Day, Regents Examinations, Press Convention, and our final football game.

Primary elections for County Government Day were held Tuesday November 5. The winners will compete in the general election next week.

Mrs. Lucena Hendrix and Mr. John McCormick were elected

Senior Class sponsors. Juniors elected Miss Myrtle Clark and Mr. Frank Simon to assist them through the school year.

Fifty-one seniors in the upper one-fourth of their class took Regents Examinations Wednesday to qualify for scholarships to the University of Nebraska.

Students from the Journalism classes, Rocket staff and Northeast staff attended the NHPA Convention at the University of Nebraska Friday and Saturday. All attended clinics and conferences, while some seniors entered Journalism contests sponsored by NSAA. Seniors from Lincoln Northeast who participated in contests were Don McGurk, Kay Ulrich, Sharon Grosseohme, Andrea Thompson, Pat Madden, Sandy Monia, Bev Hogan, and Betsy Tullis.

All was not work at the convention. Everyone had a pleasant time making new friends and just enjoying a break in routine.

Awards were presented at a luncheon Saturday at which Dave Shepherd, LNE Senior, presided. Also, a Pi Party at the YMCA Friday evening provided fun and entertainment for students attending the convention.

Friday evening we played Lincoln High in our final game of an exciting season. For seniors it was the end of high-school football days, but for Coach Bauer it was just the first of what we hope will be many hard-fought and successful seasons at LNE.

afternoon at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church. Mr. and Mrs. Walker were host and hostess for the dinner party and included among the guests were members of the bridal party and families. In the picture are (seated, from left) Rodney Madsen, Nancy Hallam, Ens. Walker, Miss Hartman, Kenneth Smith and Mrs. Clayton Walker, (standing, from left) Mrs. A. G. Hartman, George Dow, Pam Spieler, Larry Blevins, Mr. Walker and Bruce Walker.

Talk

Had Chapel Wedding

BY ALL of the rules, regulations and the Fifty-Fifty Club's year book, there should be a dinner dance on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, at Hotel Lincoln—But the weather and all plans are subject to change—and the Fifty-Fifty Club has helped itself to two changes—In the first place the dinner dance has been postponed from Nov. 12, to Nov. 19—and secondly it will not be at Hotel Lincoln, as the year book has announced—but at Hillcrest Country Club.

AND WHILE we are on the topic of dancing clubs we think you might like to know that the Merimyx Dancing Club is having its first party of the season on Saturday evening at Hotel Cornhusker. It doubtless will be a gala event, not only because of the fact that it is the first party—but also because of the new members, including Mr. and Mrs. Jake Heidenrader, Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. George Fuchshuber, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Matche, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McKie, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bourne, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Ballew, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frame, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haman, Dr. and Mrs. John Clynne, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davey.

Guest couples at the party will be Capt. and Mrs. Dean Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Atlee Steffen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neumeier, Col. and Mrs. Robert Murphy, Miss Frances Bohety and John Wiler, all of Lincoln; and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Leach of Berkeley, Calif.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aitken are the week-end guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, in Newton, Ia. We also were told that the foursome plans to go to Ames today for the Nebraska-Iowa State game.

MRS. JOSEPH WAYNE HARROP

Clusters of lighted candles against a background of greenery formed the chancel decor at the Lincoln Air Force Base chapel Friday afternoon, Nov. 8, for the marriage of Miss Jan Westin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Westin, of Moose Lake, Minn., to Lt. Joseph Wayne Harrop, son of Mrs. William Harrop of Rochester, Minn. The lines of the 2 o'clock ceremony were read by the Rev. Jan Walker in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Kathleen Anderson of Elk Point, S.D. Miss Anderson wore an afternoon frock of velveteen in the French blue shade.

Lt. John Gwin served as best man, and seating the guests were Lt. Lindell Hagood and Lt. Gene Monk.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white velveteen touched with imported lace. The snug, Empire bodice of lace was designed with a rounded neckline edged with circlets of seed pearls, and the fitted sleeves were elbow-length. Below the slim waist, the skirt flared into waltz length, and her illusion veil was held to the head by a half-hat of jeweled lace.

A reception was held at the LAFB Officers Club after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Chicago. Lt. and Mrs. Harrop will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Mrs. Harrop is a former student at Union College, and the bridegroom has attended Rochester Junior College, Rochester, Minn.

Spartan-Notre Dame Battle Tops National Grid Menu

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press
During the ten years the Notre Dame-Army football rivalry was allowed to cool off, the Fighting Irish, shorn of their subway alumni, installed Michigan State as their big rival. The 24th meeting between the Irish and Michigan State's Spartans today fully deserves the Big Game designation.

For one thing, it marks the beginning of one of the toughest assignments ever handed a college team. After meeting Michigan State, currently ranked fourth in the nation in The Associated Press poll, Notre Dame will go up against Oklahoma, No. 2, and then Iowa, No. 5, on the next two Saturdays.

The game will be played before a capacity crowd for the ninth year in a row—76,000 sellout in Michigan State's double-decked Spartan Stadium.

Michigan State, climbing back after a mid-season defeat by Purdue, is favored in this game and a strong contender for the Big Ten title. Notre Dame, thumped by Navy last week after unexpectedly winning its first four games, needs a victory in at least one of these three rough games to salvage a satisfactory season.

As a gate attraction or as a struggle for national honors, the Notre Dame-Michigan State game ranks alongside today's other tussles involving top-ranked teams. And six of the teams listed in the first ten face spoilers who could wreck conference championship prospects.

The tough Texas Aggies, heading the rankings for the second week, encounter Southern Methodist. Oklahoma's team, apparently somewhat below its 1956 championship level, plays Missouri. Defense-minded Auburn, No. 3, is challenged by Mississippi State for the Southeastern Conference lead.

Iowa, the defending Big Ten champion which tied Michigan last week, now runs against rugged Minnesota. Ohio State, leading the Big Ten, counters the Purdue team which dropped Michigan State and Illinois. Tennessee, once more a Southeastern contender since Bobby Gordon has blossomed out as a tailback, runs into an improving Georgia Tech team that manhandled Duke last week.

Navy, Army and North Carolina State, rated 7, 8 and 10, respectively, aren't risking any kind of championships. Triumphant Navy encounters embittered Duke at Baltimore; Army plays the nation's passngest team, Utah. N.C. State appears a bit too strong for William and Mary.

Although Oklahoma has won 46 consecutive games and hasn't lost in 63 straight Big Eight contests, Coach Bud Wilkinson has said both strings may be ended by Missouri. A victory likely would send the once-beaten, once-tied Tigers to the Orange Bowl.

The surprising Oregon team also is shooting for a bowl spot against Washington. A victory would assure the Webfoots of at least a tie in the Pacific Coast Conference and probably the Rose Bowl nomination.

Princeton's Ivy League lead is at stake when the Tigers play improving Harvard, and Miami, Ohio and Marshall, both unbeaten in the Mid-American Conference, fight it out for first place. Other top pairings in various sections include:

EAST — Pittsburgh-West Virginia, Syracuse-Holy Cross, Lehigh-VMI, Columbia-Dartmouth, Cornell-Brown, Penn-Yale, Lafayette-Rutgers.

SOUTH — Mississippi-Louisiana State, Florida-Georgia, Alabama-Tulane, Vanderbilt-Kentucky, Clemson-Maryland, North Carolina-South Carolina, Wake Forest-Virginia Tech, Richmond-George Washington, Mississippi Southern-Houston.

MIDWEST — Illinois-Michigan, Northwestern-Wisconsin, Iowa State-Nebraska, Kansas-Kansas State, Oklahoma State-Wyoming, Wichita-Drake.

SOUTHWEST — Rice-Arkansas, Texas-Baylor, Texas Tech-Tulsa, Arizona-Hardin-Simmons, Arizona State-Texas Western.

FAR WEST — Air Force-Denver, Colorado State University-Colorado, Utah State-Idaho, Montana State-Montana, California-Oregon State, Southern California-Stanford, Washington State-UCLA, Fresno State-Brigham Young.

BOLD RULER

Two Outsiders Scratched In 3-Year-Old Trenton Handicap

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—Round Table, Gallant Man and Bold Ruler run for the 3-year-old thoroughbred championship of America today in the $75,000 added Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park.

The head-on meeting of the year's top candidates for 3-year-old honors was made possible by the withdrawal of two outsiders entered earlier Friday. There is a strong possibility the winner also may wind up as horse of the year.

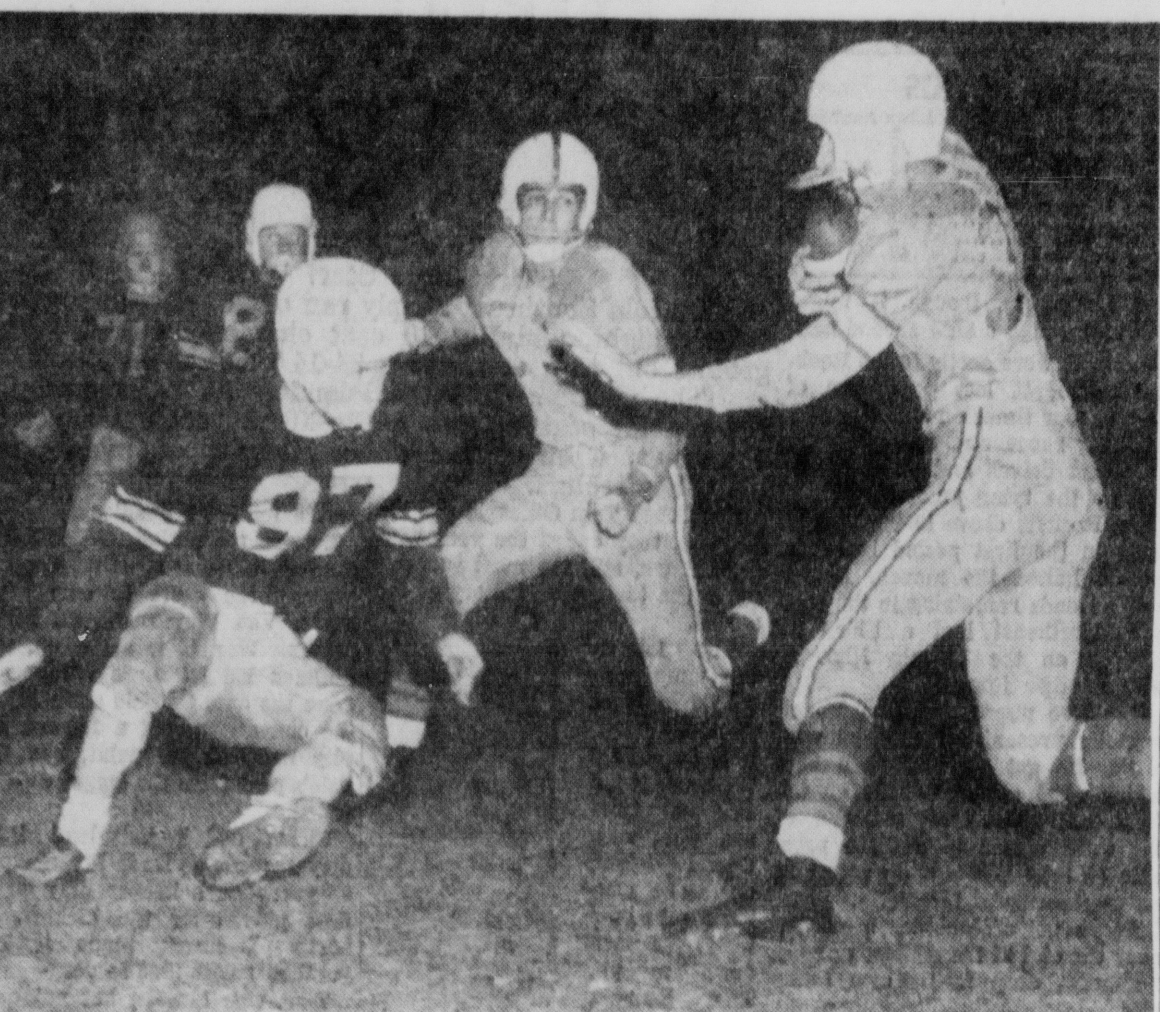

Earlier Wise Margin, a 5-year-old owned by Samuel Tufano, and the King Ranch's Beam Rider were entered, making up a five-horse field for the mile and a quarter event. But Tufano and Max Hirsch, trainer for King Ranch, decided to withdraw their horses "in order to make the Trenton a true test for the 3-year-old title."

With only three horses in the field, the gross purse will be worth $82,350, with $52,162 to the winner, little more than half as much as the $100,000 winner take all offered by several other tracks to the owners of Gallant Man and Round Table for a match race.

By modern standards, President Gene Mori of Garden State has captured the race of the year for peanuts. The three-horse championship test is unprecedented in the memory of veteran turf observers. Certainly the race is unparalleled since the 1955 Nashua-Swaps match race at Washington Park. Post time is approximately 3:10 p.m. CST.

Round Table, winner of 11 straight races and 14 of 20 starts this year with fabulous odds of $574,650, has been established the 7-5 favorite.

Islander Stiff-Arm Pays Off

Grand Island's Bob Eversoll uses a stiff-arm and some hard running to pick up ten yards before being dropped by Southeast's Jim Brownell (97).

Moore Triumphs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Featherweight contender Davey Moore found an open target for his crashing hooks and crosses Friday night and hammered out a unanimous 10-round decision over tough-jawed Jose Coto.

Moore weighed 128, Coto 127½.

North Bend Ties

NORTH BEND—North Bend tied favored Ashland 6-6 here Friday afternoon with both teams failing on tries for an extra point.

Verne Flamme scored on a 36-yard run for North Bend. Bob Holz plunged two yards for Ashland's touchdown.

Bennet Clips Raymond

BENNET—Larry Hunt scored 26 points to power Bennet to a 58-30 triumph over Raymond. Don Ehlers added 19 points and Lyle Stolle 23 for Bennet.

Falls City Romps Past Jeffs 26-6

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY — The Falls City Tigers exploded in the first period with two quick tallies to gain another Twin Rivers Conference victory as they dumped Fairbury 26-6.

Behind the sturdy running of Jim Poage, Ron Gilkerson and Fred Gilbert, the Tigers ran to their easy victory.

Gilkerson started the evening's scoring spree with an 11-yard plunge as he bucked across the twin stripes. Poage followed with a conversion. Falls City rallied again later in the first period when Poage bulled his way over from the two.

Highlight of the evening was a 30-yard scamper by Falls City's Gilbert in the second quarter.

Poage added an insurance touchdown in the final period when he flipped a 15-yard pass to Fred Gilbert.

Fairbury's only score was made by Al Motel in the second period, as he raced over from the 30 yard line.

After a two yard touchdown by Byron Spader and an eight yard tally by Chuck Jackson, Bob Smith bucked his way across the twin stripes to add both of the important extra points.

Weeping Water's Seegar and Rohoads accounted for its two scores.

Miami Rallies; Then Wallops Florida State

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Miami's Hurricanes spotted underdog Florida State a first period touchdown Friday night then roared back in the second half behind the passing of Fran Curci and the power running of Byron Blasko and Joe Plevel to down the Seminoles, 40-13.

Curci, the little 142-pound quarterback who once had ambitions to play football for Florida State and was turned down because of his size, ran the Seminoles dizzy in the second half with his bullet passes and runs on the option play.

Two of Curci's tosses went for touchdowns. He hit Joe Plevel with a five yard toss in the first quarter and connected with end Phil Geatz in the third quarter with a six-yard pass.

After outplaying and outscoring the Hurricanes, 7-6, in the first half, Florida State defense wilted and Miami poured through five touchdowns to go far out in front.

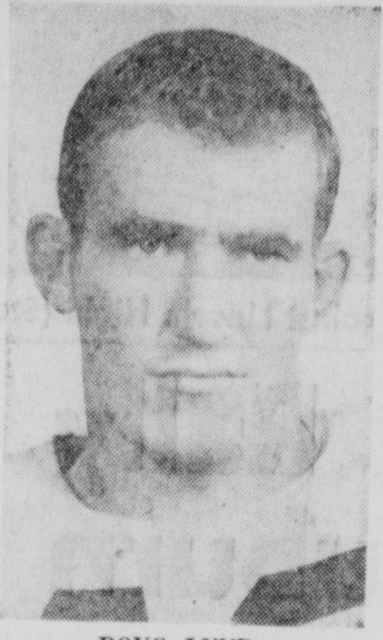

Plevel, 183-pound left halfback, got three of Miami's scores on short runs. Two of them came in the final quarter.

Florida State, showing surprising running power from an unbalanced line formation, jumped into a lead early in the first quarter when it drove 66 yards for a touchdown in 13 running plays. Fullback Bob Nellums slammed over from the 1-yard line for the score and Johnny Sheppard converted.

The touchdown jarred the Hurricanes into action and Curci opened a passing attack that paced Miami on a 76-yard scoring drive. The payoff was the five yard toss from Curci to Plevel.

NWU Hosts KSTC In 1957 Grid Finale

Five senior lettermen will be playing in their last regularly scheduled football game when Nebraska Wesleyan University entertains the potent Kearney State College Antelopes here tonight.

The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. in O. N. Magee Memorial stadium at 53rd and Madison.

Coach Keith Skogman has announced that each of his five seniors will be in the starting lineup. They are:

Don Keller, Harvard guard, who has earned three previous numerals alternating at guard and tackle.

Dick Keller, Harvard back, who also is a three-letter man and has consistently been Wesleyan's best ground gainer operating as quarterback and halfback.

Douglas Lund, Allen lineman, who lettered two years as a guard but was shifted to a tackle slot this year.

Don Schlichtemeier, Scottsbluff end, a two-letter veteran who has been noted for his defensive play.

Don Carter, Atkinson, Kas. fullback, potentially a great runner but who has not quite reached his peak as a Wesleyan player.

In Kearney State, the Plainsmen have chosen a formidable opponent for their final game.

The Antelopes have lost but a single game this season.

The game will cap an annual fall Parent's Day activity on the Wesleyan campus. As many as five hundred parents of Wesleyan students are expected to swell the crowd for the final game.

PAUL SMALL'S CONVICTION TO STAND

... High Court Rules

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the robbery conviction of Paul R. Small, who had appealed from a Douglas County District Court verdict. He had been sentenced to 15 years in the State Penitentiary.

Wearing silk stockings as masks, two men held up Mrs. Margaret W. Kellogg of Omaha Oct. 18, 1955, and escaped with several thousand dollars and other valuables taken from the safe at her home.

The Supreme Court ruled that it found no ground to reverse the District Court decision that Small was involved in the robbery.

In other decisions, the high court:

Upheld Banner County District Court dismissal of a suit brought by Southwestern Truck Sales and Rental Co., which sought to collect more than $14,000 on a contract under which H. L. Johnson allegedly was leasing oil field equipment. The court held that the so-called lease actually was a conditional sales contract and that the company had repossessed the equipment and waived its right to recover past or future payments.

Increased to $6,100 the $3,862 which the Dakota County District Court had ruled that the S. A. Sorenson Construction Co. should recover from Roy P. and Arline Brothill. Sorenson sued on a mechanic's lien to collect for home repairs and materials provided to the Brothills.

Affirmed Douglas County District Court dismissal, because of insufficient evidence, of a damage suit brought by Louis R. Roetlicher against Robert L. Goethe, and later revived in the names of executors of his estate, alleging that fraudulent representation by Goethe had induced Roetlicher to purchase certain stock in a corporation.

Sen. Kennedy Takes Strong Stand Against Reduction In Taxes Next Year

RENO (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) came out strongly Friday night against any reduction in federal taxes next year.

Addressing the national convention of Young Democrats, he said it would be "both misleading and irresponsible" for the Democrats to predict a tax cut in 1958 or stake their claim for victory on it.

"I think we should be more honest with ourselves and the people if we said, here and now, that such a cut is more unlikely," he said.

At the same time Kennedy, a potential contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, demanded that the American people be told "that the facts of our current military situation are far more grim than the President indicated" in his speech Thursday night on the missiles program.

"The President told the nation that we are behind in satellite development," he said. "He did not say how distressingly far behind we really are."

Kennedy congratulated Eisenhower on his appointment of Dr. James Killian, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to push the country's development of outer-space weapons.

"But the question is," he continued, "will the President give Dr. Killian a role of something more than a mere adviser?"

"Will he be able to get the money he needs, knock together heads in the Defense Department, end the complacency and the confusion that now grip his administration over this issue?"

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, speaking earlier, similarly criticized the Republican administration. He called for a complete mobilization of the nation's resources to catch up with the Russians.

Another speaker, Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler, twitted various Republicans for referring to Sputnik as a "nice-scientific trick" and as simply a basketball "lobbed into outer space, that goes beep, beep, beep."

Golf Course
"The problem we face today cannot be tossed out with quips and slogans, with tranquilizing phrases and golf course decisions," he said.

In the convention itself, delegates voted quietly to rule out racial discrimination within the organization's own ranks.

Sponsored by the California delegation, the change in by-laws was approved without debate. A spokesman notified the press table that Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina voted against it.

The amendment directs state units and local affiliates to permit membership without regard to race, religion or national origin. It specifically bans segregation on the same issue.

In the midst of a battle over a proposed resolution on school integration, Rep. Stewart L. Udall (D-Ariz.), cautioned Democrats against any third-party movement growing out of the civil rights fight.

Britons Smoke Less

LONDON (AP) — The government reports Britons have cut smoking by nearly 10 per cent in the wake of lung cancer scares. Its monthly statistical digest shows tobacco use declined from 20,360,000 pounds in July to 18,710,000 in August.

13-Million-Dollar AEC Structure Dedicated

EISENHOWER USES POWER DRAWN FROM NUCLEAR-CHARGED BATTERIES

GERMANTOWN, Md. (AP) — President Eisenhower dedicated the new headquarters of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) Friday, using power drawn from batteries charged with nuclear energy.

The power he drew on by pressing a button unveiled a plaque; he used simple hand power in putting a trowel of mortar on the cornerstone of the 13-million-dollar building.

The building, designed to withstand blast, spies and saboteurs, rises in a rustic setting about 30 miles northwest of Washington. It is to be occupied in January, with AEC employees transferring from various buildings in the capital.

Eisenhower came to the dedication ceremony by helicopter in a 15-minute flight from Washington, arriving just after a heavy rain. The rain halted during the time he made brief remarks; he returned to Washington by car.

Eisenhower told the gathering of about 2,000 that the discovery of how to harness the atom broke one of the great secrets of nature, comparable to such things as man's discovery of fire.

Speaking of atomic energy, he said: "What differentiates it from all others is the terrible potentialities it opens for wicked men, people who want to use this new discovery for the destruction of mankind now have placed in their hands a power that certainly should give all of us pause."

Eisenhower voiced the hope "that the curse of the atomic explosion may pass from man's knowledge and only the good that results from this great discovery would be with us always."

ADLAI SAYS IKE DIDN'T MAKE POINT CLEAR

CHICAGO (INS) — Adlai Stevenson said Friday President Eisenhower failed to make clear whether he "is satisfied with our military missile and scientific situation or not."

The twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate, referring to the President's nationwide address, commented:

"I am happy that he is going to try to pool our scientific efforts with our allies" but "a lot more will have to be done to restore mutual confidence in our collective power and purpose."

"I hope and believe the President is moving in that direction despite the note of complacency in his speech which we have heard too often in recent years."

Kallenberger Gets 3 Years' Probation

James Kallenberger, 21, of Savannah, Ill., was placed on three years' probation Friday in connection with a federal charge involving a stolen car.

Kallenberger pleaded guilty by Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt of Lincoln to a charge of transporting a stolen car last June 20 from Rockford, Ill., to Columbus, Neb.

TORONTO (AP) — This is getting to be a habit that Clifford Plume would just as soon break.

Last June 12, his house caught fire and he tossed his daughter JoAnne out of a second story window to a passerby. Damage — $6,300.

Thursday night his house caught fire again and Plume threw 16-month-old JoAnne out the window to a neighbor. Plume, 23, and three other persons in the house also escaped. Damage — $4,500.

12 Dead In Tornadoes

... HUNDREDS HURT

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Vicious tornadoes, their oncoming rush cloaked in thunder and rain, suddenly lashed out at four southern states Thursday night and Friday, leaving 12 dead, more than a hundred injured, hundreds homeless.

The total damages easily will reach several million dollars.

Alexandria, a city of 40,000 in central Louisiana, absorbed most of the fury. Three died in that area. Louisiana recorded four other deaths, Texas had three and Mississippi two.

A baby twister also struck Selma, Ala., but no one was injured.

Eyewitnesses agreed that the tornadoes were similar in one detail: They were sudden. Heavy thunderstorms muffled their roars of warning. They were swift.

In Alexandria, the tornado struck out for only six seconds. But much of a 10-block residential section was destroyed or heavily damaged.

Terror and Violence
Survivors, wherever the twisters hit, told stories of terror and violence and faith.

BABY, 7 MONTHS, 'SATISFACTORY' AFTER BURNS

Seven-month-old Joy Lynne Smisek is in "satisfactory" condition at a Lincoln hospital with burns suffered in a fire at her home early Friday morning.

According to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smisek of 1230 So. 1st, the fire started from an improvised vaporizer Mrs. Smisek was using to fight a cold with which Joy Lynne was suffering.

Mrs. Smisek placed a pan of water on a hot plate and put a sheet over the pan and above the child. The pan boiled dry, she said, which allowed the sheet to catch fire. The sheet ignited the baby's mattress and bed clothing.

First, second and third degree burns covered 18 per cent of the child's body, mostly her legs and arm.

The house was not heavily damaged, firemen said, and another child in the same room with the rest of the family was not hurt.

300 WATCH AS ROLLING CAR INJURES BOY

BELLEVUE, Neb. (AP) — Gary Moravack, 16, of Bellevue, suffered severe head injuries Friday night when the car he was riding in overturned on the Bellevue base.

diamond while a crowd of some 300 students watched from the adjacent football field where Bellevue was playing South Sioux City.

Bellevue police said Delbert Pelton, Bellevue, was driving the old car with three passengers and that he was "cutting circles" on the diamond when the car overturned.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Vanessa Brown and Dr. Robert A. Franklyn may reconcile, he said.

They met in Superior Court for a pre-divorce hearing and obtained a two-week delay on Nov. 22.

Dr. Franklyn helped his wife on with her coat and told reporters: "During this two-week period we hope to work this thing out amicably and are seeking a happy reconciliation."

Miss Brown, 29, and Dr. Franklyn, 39, were divorced in April 1955. They reconciled later.

MILLIONS ARE IDLED BY FLU

... OCTOBER EMPLOYMENT GAIN SKIMPY

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 2,700,000 workers, by conservative government count, lost some working time during October due to influenza or other illnesses.

The government reported this in an October job survey which also showed employment increased slightly by 330,000 to 66 million. Unemployment remained the same as in September at 2 1/2 million.

The report said the combined total of persons who missed one or more days work because of illness in October was nearly twice as high as that reported for September and in October last year.

Another major finding in the joint Commerce-Labor Department report was that the usual upturn in fall employment and downturn in unemployment failed to materialize in the expected degree.

The report showed 1,300,000 workers absent from their jobs the full week of Oct. 6-12 when the government took its October job count. An additional 1,400,000 fulltime workers put in less than 35 hours a week of work as a result of short term illnesses.

Student Strike Ends
GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (INS) — A four-day strike by 4,000 Guayaquil University students demanding higher allotments from the government has ended. The action came after the Ecuadorean Congress appropriated $420,000 to cover student allotments in the next fiscal year.

More Lincoln Absences
Absences in the Lincoln Public Schools increased slightly Friday with 16.6 per cent of the students out, compared with 15.9 Thursday.

There were 3,584 students and 58 teachers absent. Fifteen schools reported more than 20 per cent of their students were not in class Friday. They included Norwood Park, 37.6 per cent; Belmont, 25.3; Dawes, 28.7; Eastridge, 25.1, and Havelock, 25.3.

Lincoln businesses reported a slight rise in absenteeism, but not to the extent that operations were hampered.

In Omaha major hospitals were 90 per cent or more full Friday and reported a larger-than-usual number of pneumonia and other upper respiratory cases.

A check of Omaha hospitals showed some would have difficulty finding space for more patients as pneumonia and other flu complications caused a jam, the Associated Press reported.

CPPD Gets More Ft. Randall Line Protest Time

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

An agreement has been filed with the State Railway Commission extending the time for Consumers Public Power District to protest the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Co-operative application seeking authority to build a 230-kv line from Fort Randall into eastern Nebraska.

Under Commission rules, a protest must be filed five days prior to the hearing date on an application and the G & T hearing has been set for next Tuesday.

Consumers' application seeking authority to build a similar 230-kv line has been set for hearing the following Tuesday.

The stipulation, signed by attorney Richard D. Wilson for CPPD, and attorney Kenneth M. Olds for G & T, states that Consumers may file its protest "at any time prior to the time when the applicant (G & T) commences to produce its evidence." . . . in the Nov. 12 hearing.

"No Right"

It is further stipulated that if the parties enter into an agreement whereby Consumers agrees not to oppose G & T's application, "then Consumers shall have no right to file any protest or supplement to protest."

This is taken as an indication that the two public power agencies will not enter into a conflict at the Railway Commission level, but does not close the door to a later showdown over which shall build the line.

It is generally conceded that there will not be two heavy-duty transmission lines constructed to supply additional power at this time to the same location.

The Railway Commission has no jurisdiction over convenience or necessity of a line, but rules only on safety factors and sees that the proposed lines do not interfere with existing facilities.

The Commission could approve both applications.

It appears that it may be up to the Federal Bureau of Reclamation to determine which of the agencies it will supply power to, thus settling which would build the line.

Uni. Jr. High Has Honors Assembly

Carroll Sawin, assistant principal of University High School, spoke at a junior high honors assembly at which 18 students were recognized for scholarship and 15 for citizenship.

Recognition for outstanding scholarship went to:

Ninth Grade: Norman Block, Judith Rippe, Alfred Hartmann, Lynn Schoenleber, Victor Hempel, Karen Umberger, Barbara Kastens, Sharon Yake, Keith McCreight, Mary Jean Bovey, Harriet Myers.

Eighth Grade: Ted Jackson, Ricky Olson, Beth Lemmason, Tranda Schultz, Linda Miles.

Seventh Grade: Judy Crews, Martha Porter.

45 Million Americans Fail To Get Polio Shots

WASHINGTON — The public Health Service said Friday new estimates indicate some 45 million Americans under 40 have not been vaccinated against paralytic polio-myelitis, while about 34 million have received three polio shots.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said: "The fact that there are still an estimated 45 million —15 million children and 30 million adults under 40—with no protection is a matter of grave concern."

'TEACHING APPLICATION SCIENTIFIC COMPLEMENT' ...In Church-Related Colleges

"The application of church college teachings is an indispensable complement to the discoveries of the scientist," according to Milburn P. Akers, executive editor of the Chicago Sun-Times.

Akers was principal speaker at a Friday night banquet opening a Great Plains Conference for Trustees of Church Colleges, for which Nebraska Wesleyan University is host.

"The typical church-related college," he said, "operates on the assumption that knowledge ultimately converges on a universe that is spiritually meaningful."

Rejects Other Conclusions

Akers said a church college "rejects the cynic's conclusion that no knowledge of God is possible. It rejects the Communist's pretension that there is no God, and the indifference of the secularist who maintains that such a question doesn't matter."

The speaker noted that "about 70 per cent of the men and women listed in Who's Who in America are graduates of private colleges, many of which are church-related."

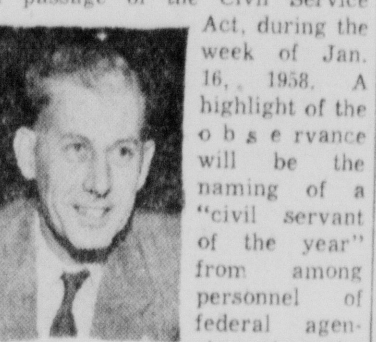

He contended that "these graduates were not mass produced. The program of education was beamed to each student according to his needs and abilities."

Workshop Sessions

The conference, attended by church college trustees and administrators from 10 states, will continue Saturday with workshop sessions.

Bobst To Plan For Civil Service Observance

H. G. Bobst of the Soil Conservation Service is chairman of a committee to plan observances in this area of the 75th anniversary of passage of the Civil Service Act, during the week of Jan. 16, 1958. A highlight of the observance will be the naming of a "civil servant of the year" from among personnel of federal agencies in the area.

Bobst appointed these five men to serve on his committee: R. W. Peters, assistant regional manager, Veterans Administration; J. R. McLaughlin, administrative assistant, U. S. Geological Survey; Walter F. Salisbury, assistant Lincoln postmaster; T. A. Dubas, civilian personnel officer at Lincoln Air Force Base, and J. W. Bickle, SCS administrative assistant.

Citizens Council Topic: Taxes

Members of the Nebraska Citizens Council, at a Nov. 25 meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel, plan to discuss how expanding government, federal aid and new methods of taxation affect the state and local tax system and the economy of the state.

Speakers will include U. S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, Gov. Victor Anderson and two state senators, John E. Beaver and Ray C. Simmons.

Panel speakers will be: Clark Jarry, former Lincoln mayor; Charles V. Price, chief of the Nebraska Resources Division; Floyd D. Herman of Wilber, a Saline County farmer; D. S. Campbell of Fairbury, secretary-treasurer of Husted Stores Co.; Noris G. Jones of Beatrice, president of Store Kraft Manufacturing Co.; George H. Fleming of Sidney, Cheyenne County commissioner.
